

Standard Browser Development and Delivery

Overview

All that is needed to develop applications with RapidBIZ is a standard browser – no plugin's required. VACAVA developers have found that the best browsers for development are Chrome and Firefox. While Edge and Safari are functional, they have not been tested as development clients to the extent that Chrome and Firefox have.

For production use, any of the major, standard browser can be used to use applications developed on the RapidBIZ platform. This includes most browsers available on mobile devices.

When applications are developed with RapidBIZ, the applications will run in all the major browsers without additional testing.

Exceptions

If a developer uses some unique function(s) supported by one browser type and not supported in the others, then it is possible that the function may not work properly or may not appear as expected across all the browser types.